Seeing everyone else call's you Polk & visit on Mike.
Even though you wrote wet nasties in my yearbook

for many many years and at this time I think it

(The following is the text of the valedictory speech delivered by James Beagan, 1970. It is presented here as a dedication to the Brothers of Holy Cross who will conclude their twelfth and final year at Bishop Hendricken High School. The Hendricken community expresses genuine gratitude to the Brothers for their efforts and concern.)

is appropriate to thank - you for it. 12 years is a long time and we've been through alot together.

Friends:

Graduation is the time that all school life is directed towards, but it should not just be a single prized moment. It is an advancement in life—a new beginning. You do not sell the four years of work you put into school just for four tickets to the commencement exercises, and then it's over. Hopefully, the graduate can trade those precious years for a lifetime more to work with. Learning should not be only a compilation of facts memorized and effortlessly forgotten but the acquisition of attitudes hard-earned and so imbedded that to betray them would be like stripping a part of one's self away.

The civilized man is one who can think for himself and use this insight to work for the betterment of himself and his world. This is the essence of what any institution of learning tries to impart to those in its trust. Man has always fulfilled himself best under the protection of freedom of thought. Recently this freedom has been infringed upon not by the tyrannies of some dictator but by man's own prejudices. The current polarization of opinion is one of the greatest barriers to the workings of civilization. It removes reason from motive and substitutes for emotion, based on fear, hate and suspicion. Opinion becomes a matter of what is most befitting to my position and age, and what view is expected of me. If I am young, than I should have long hair, protest, and accomplish nothing in life just to spite the authorities over me. If I am a construction worker, than I am the last bastion of America and it is my solemn duty to go out and save it from anarchy. If I am a businessman, comfortably well off, then I sit back, and say it's TOO BAD and remain uninvolved. If I have any kind of civil power, than I can brand those who don't hold my views as "bums" and invoke my very own silent majority for support. Even if these are not true for an individual, these caricatures are applied to him simply because he is of the opposite party. The person who does this is not thinking as a civilized man; he is only basing his opinion on a self-love that is so great that it can tolerate no view other than his own. It accomplishes no good for the society and only serves to destroy the element of brotherhood and love. And is it possible for a civilized man to love himself more than any other human and to destroy what he loves?

It is my wish that you have a great deal of luck in the future and that you keep in touch.
I wish you happiness, love, and peace and hope that even though you're going far away, you will remember me and the great friends we've shared.

Please! Love - Dave

One of the favorite terms of the decade and one of the greatest barriers to freedom of thought is the generation gap. There is no generation gap, only a gap between people who won't let each other think. When people are all herded into one group with their individuality of thought neglected, then they will always be frustrated. People are branded radicals and ignored just because they are young; those who are older are called reactionary and despised whether they are or not. This refusal to listen can cause riots and violence which will only make their elders more afraid of youth and more resistant to their ideas. Thus, a vicious circle is born.

Working together is the only way to establish any lasting good in this world. Otherwise everything would be self-centered and the less fortunate would be ignored. It is shameful that students have to be forced to strike and deprive themselves of the education the world needs so desperately just so their voices can be heard. It is equally shameful that America can hide under the cover of the silent majority and try to undermine what they can't understand. This defeats the whole learning process—it should be a mutual sharing of concerned people; the elders giving the aid of their experience and youth supplying new questions that must be faced, and sometimes new answers.

These words have been said in some form or other by many people, words without action. But they take on a new relevance for the graduating classes of this year and especially that of Hendricken. Colleges are in some of the worst trouble they have ever been in. It is the classes that will enter in the next few years who will determine if the university experience can continue. It all depends on how well they learned the lessons of high school—cooperation, the courage and ability to formulate and defend one's own convictions, and the perseverance not to forget one's own civilized goals in the midst of frustration.

This applies especially to Hendricken because it gave this kind of education. It did not just expose the graduate to these attitudes and leave him to fend for himself, but it helped him to assimilate them into his total being. It did not present a false facade. There were things to like about Hendricken, as well as things to dislike about it. There were people to love at Hendricken, and those not so easy to like. The student was left free to decide for himself if the responsibility of Hendricken was that he wanted and was willing to work for. It helped him learn that the student had much to learn from the teacher and that the teacher also has much to learn from the student. These lessons include the answers behind who we are and why we are here. Our education was such that it did not permit us to exaggerate the extremes and make the mistake of polarization. It let us realize that this school like all things in life, had good points and bad points but it tried overall to make us ready for the world we would inherit. This school tried to give us all that it had of brotherhood, reason and faith. It is because of this education that we can approach the future with confidence and justice and it is for this that Hendricken has earned our love and respect.

ADMINISTRATION

"The high school student will not mature if all his decisions, both major and minor, are always made for him. A mistake, properly analyzed and reflected upon, can be a great opportunity for growth and learning."

Bro. Francis Ellis, Principal

Bro. Lawrence Lussier, Dean of Studies

Bro. Robert Nebus, Assistant Principal for Student Affairs

Thus, this pervasive philosophy, as articulated by the new principal, dominated the 1970-71 Hendricken student's life.

Bro. Francis Ellis began his first year as the new principal at Hendricken when it was announced that Bro. Hugh McCabe would be reassigned to another school. Bro. Hugh subsequently was elected the Provincial of the Eastern Province of the Brothers of Holy Cross.

Bro. Francis and two other new faces, Bro. Raymond Powers, the Dean of Discipline, and Mr. Robert Griffin, the Athletic Director, joined the Hendricken administration sparking an unparalleled enthusiasm in the B.H. athletic program.

Working under Bro. Francis were Brothers Lawrence Lussier, Assistant Principal for Studies, and Bro. Robert Nebus, assistant principal for student affairs, whose purpose it was to guide and direct the students' academic careers and extra-curricular activities respectively.

Bro. Ferrer McHenry was again occupied in counseling seniors with university and college application trials. The treasury was guarded and allocated by one of Hendricken's long-time residents, Bro. Rudolph Lacas.

The administration had an additional function this year due to the turnover of the school to the Christian Brothers. Organizational and planning sessions aided in providing a smooth transition for the 1971-72 school year.

ENGLISH

What is the school subject called "English"? The answer rests on the unstartling assumption that language, primarily the English language, constitutes the core of the subject; and on the further and equally unstartling assumption that the study and use of the English language is the proper content of the English curriculum.

To a large degree, the study of English or of any of those subjects loosely classified as "the humanities" is not a matter of making new, but of constant renewal, constant rediscovery, constant restoration. With this in mind, the English program took on a student-oriented approach in designing the present curriculum. The study of one's native language and literature, as well as the need to communicate intelligently became the focus of the present English program.

Bro. Michael Smith, Literature III, IV

The focus of the present English program has been implemented in the classroom through team-teaching on all four levels, through inductive lessons in literature, by weekly writing sessions, and through the immediate study of linguistics. Nevertheless, the humanities most often suffer from having their essence diluted or obscured by what appears to be new. Thus, the central focus of the program has remained on the student and his personal growth in language while he became involved in inductive discussions, and worked on descriptive approaches to his language, and responded in writing to many new and varied insights.

Mathematics is an important subject in the high school curriculum. Not only is it essential for the study of the sciences, economics and other special subjects, but we all come across mathematical principles in every day life, even though we may not be aware of them. The program at Hendricken is geared to providing the student with a good background in the techniques of algebra and geometry. In his first two years a student covers two years of algebra and geometry and also gives the student the significance of mathematics in everyday life. A senior who has a desire to do work in the field of Mathematics or Science may take Modern Analysis which develops an understanding of some of the theoretical aspects of Mathematics.

SCIENCE

In his "Crisis in the Classroom", author-academician Charles E. Silberman points out that of all the curriculum reforms inaugurated in the last decade, those in the fields of biology, chemistry, and physics have been the most valuable to the participating students. Our Science Department has introduced these programs into the curriculum, replacing traditional General Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics with IPS, BSCS, CHEMS, and Harvard Project Physics.

Mrs. Margaret Flanagan, Chemistry and Physical Science

Mr. Christopher Brown, Physics

Bro. Lawrence Backus, Chairman

Each of these new approaches is based on one philosophical concept—you as a student can grow through a laboratory-based exercise in inductive logic. In each of these courses, you were expected to learn and use specific facts as you performed and post-labeled your experiments. However, the lesson which all of the experiments were to teach is that the masses, lengths, and solubilities you observed and calculated are subject to the limitations of your measurements. If this is the case in science where you can perform experiments under controlled conditions as many times as you wished in order to assure yourself of the results, how much greater skill must you develop in observing and interpreting the facts and generalizations encountered in daily life? If participation in the science program has made you a more careful observer, a more critical reader, and a more profound thinker, and by every measurable standard it has, then the goal of the program has been achieved.

RELIGION

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION is a controversial topic in the Catholic School World. This controversy exists because members of the

Bro. Raymond Powers, Religion III

Bros. Aubert Harrigan, Religion I

Roman Catholic Community are asking what and how should the principles of the church be taught. Hendricken's Religion Program has tried to answer some of the questions in this controversy by looking at the needs of the students.

Being human demands a man to experience constant changes in his physical, emotional, intellectual and social world. In addition to this natural experience, today's man must experience a rapidly changing world. With this evolutionary change occurring, concepts that were advocated, proven and adhered to for many years are now respected in a different manner. In the Roman Catholic Church we find a similar evolutionary change.

The developments in the Roman Catholic Church do not entail a compromise in principles or values, only changed words. So with this in mind and realizing the confusion and man's need but non appreciation of on going education the members of the religion program are trying to present the radical challenge of Jesus Christ. This means the program is an attempt by individuals to act as guides for the present and future religious response of the educated Christian.

LANGUAGE

At the elementary level, the primary aim of language gives special attention to the development of audio lingual skills. Basic structures of the target language are made functional. The student is trained to use these patterns of speech easily and correctly until he can incorporate them in simple conversation related to a variety of types of immediate interest. The program further aims to develop the students' ability to write and read within his experience.

The second level course is planned to strengthen reading and writing skills while maintaining audio lingual proficiency.

Just as there are great moments in the history of a nation, there are great hours in her literary past. The Senior Literature course recalls for the students' enjoyment and enlightenment some of the most significant examples of French and Spanish literary art. An opportunity is afforded advanced students to acquire "des connaissances de base" concerning literary forms, and their importance in the continuing development of French and Spanish thought.

SOCIAL STUDIES

If a title had to be given to the combined histories taught at Hendricken, "Concepts of the World," would suffice.

From the Freshmen to Senior year, the basic goal of The Department is to familiarize the student with the basic concepts of all the countries in the World. Starting off with Western Civilization, the complexities of the European Theatre are played out. As Sophomores, the world outside of Europe is realized by the student. In the Junior year, because of the background of the previous two years, United States History should be most meaningful to the student, for he can place our country within the framework of the world. The Senior year is reserved for two electives; either the Honors Course, which consists of Economic Theories, in detail, or Problems of Democracy, which is a combination of Economics, Government, and sociological Problems.

Mr. Thomas Hutton - Economic Theories

Bro. Joseph Walsh, Chairman

Bro. Joseph, Western Civilization, U. S. History, Modern World History and Problems of Democracy

Mr. David Bennett, U S History and Modern World History

The overall philosophy of the Department is to develop the student to be able to cope with the understanding of the world's problems and come to firm, justifiable answers. This can be realized to a limited degree, by the only outside activity which can be closely related to the Department—Model Legislature. In the past four years, Hendricken has had representatives in the top positions of this organization, which is composed of all the schools in Rhode Island. This year Paul Joyal will represent the school as Majority Leader in The House of Representatives.

BUSINESS

Business today is a profession. Business, a few years ago was less complicated, but with today's expansion and specialization of business organization there has been created a need for business education on the high school level.

Mr. Thomas Hutton, Typing

Mr. Kenneth Bedard, Chairman, Accounting, Typing

Mr. Patrick Raggio, Business Law, Typing

The business courses offered at Hendricken are aimed to educate young men in the business field and to direct their thinking to the complex problems that they will have to confront in their economic as well as in their social aspects of their life when they graduate and seek employment for their life profession.

An introduction to business presents to the student a broader ideal and picture of the fundamentals of the business world on a practical and real life basis.

MUSIC

Hendricken's outstanding Music Department introduced excellent insights into many varied aspects of music this year. Music courses such as Music Theory and Analysis and Music History Survey were made available by the expert chairman of the department, Bro. John Neidl. Not only being exposed to a cultural aspect of life, students also had the opportunity to compose their own music. Tracing the development and style of music was the prime concern of students enrolled in the Music History Survey course. Both courses proved to be most beneficial to the students.

Bro. John Neidl, Music Theory and Analysis

Bro. John Neidl, Music History Survey

MEDIA CENTER

Organization, thoroughness, and intelligent presentation, these were key words this year in the Hendricken Library. Under the expert direction of Bro. Leo Rossignol, the media center was dedicated to providing students the opportunity to inform themselves of the world and its challenges. A number of newly acquired books on widely ranging topics afforded increased versatility, and "in depth" research assignments prompted many students to take full advantages of the library's resources.

ATHLETICS

The year of 1970-71 was one of accomplishment for the Athletic Department. In the Fall, the new Athletic Director, Mr. Robert Griffin, molded a fine football squad which shared the Class B West Crown. Coach Ray Pepin brought the basketball team into the playoffs with excellent team efforts in every game. Track also enjoyed a successful year finishing second as did Cross Country and Indoor Track.

During the year, many exemplary athletes emerged from the ranks of the Hendricken teams. Their efforts, along with the dedication of the coaching staff made for another outstanding year.

MAINTENANCE

As in past years, Bro. Edward Wisniewski, and his maintenance staff continued to keep the school in excellent condition through their constant efforts. The staff consisted of Mr. Kenneth Rogers and a host of workers, including freshman Paul Johnson, sophomores Dennis Guillemette, Bob Lawton, and Paul LeBeau, juniors Jim Hutter and Pete Metro, and seniors Vinny Earnshaw and Ted Smith who worked part-time after school and evenings.

Among the many projects undertaken by the group this year were painting the school corridors and trim on the Brothers' residence, sanding and refinishing the bleachers, stripping and resurfacing the gym floor, and erecting the wind-fallen football scoreboard. Special recognition must also be given to Jim Yarnall, '70, who helped the crew extensively during the summer and Dan Byrne, '70, who designed the two Hawks in the center of the basketball court.

ACTIVITIES

FOOTBALL BANQUET

Following the completion of an outstanding football season, in which the Hawks finished in first place clinching a co-championship with Cranston West, the players were given a banquet in honor of their success. The Quiddnessett Country Club was the setting chosen by the fathers of the team players who sponsored and supported the event. Individual recognition was given to those players who earned their football letters and also to players who received chevrons for their efforts. The players were not the only ones receiving awards. Each coach was given an award by the team in the showing of their appreciation for the time and patience that each one of them had given to all the players during the season.

Mr. Jack Gregory, head football coach at the University of Rhode Island was the guest speaker. This speech on the personal benefits each player receives through his participation in football, was the climax of the evening.

HONORS NIGHT

Students attaining academic success during the '69-'70 school year were honored at a special banquet held by Bishop Hendricken for the fourth year. After an address given by guest speaker representative John Revens '64, an alumnus of Hendricken, awards were presented to deserving members of the band by Bro. John Neidl, C.S.C. Special awards were also given to members of the Matre and Talon staffs, Stage Crew, Library Staff, and National Honor Society. After this new members of the NHS were inducted. The evening was concluded by the announcing of scholarships and grants in aid won by this particular senior class.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Once again, the Student Council assumed responsibility, and sponsored the traditional Homecoming Weekend. The co-operation and originality exhibited by the members of the council contributed to the success of this important social event.

In addition, the representatives and officers to the student council, Joe Cerrito, President; Paul Joyal, Vice-President; and Frank Reynolds, Secretary, created an advisory body, the Social Action Committee which proposed and planned a Thanksgiving Food Drive. This obviously reflected a desire on the part of the student council, not only to contribute to the school, but to the community as well.

HOMEcoming

A vibrant atmosphere, generated by the spirit of "Bum Day", dominated the entire 1970 Homecoming Weekend, undeniably the most memorable social event of autumn.

On Saturday, October 31, 1970, a motorcade complete with floats and six decorated convertibles carrying the nominees for Homecoming Queen and their escorts trooped through Warwick prior to the Bishop Hendricken-North Kingston football game. Following a perfect halftime performance by the Prout "Metronomes" and the Hendricken "Men of Music", the Homecoming crowd of 2,000 relaxed to enjoy the 56-12 Hendricken romp over North Kingston.

That evening, the Homecoming Dance attracted more than 225 couples, all obviously appreciative of both the Halloween motif and the music supplied by "Fudge and the Vanilla Wafers." However, the pinnacle of the entire weekend occurred later that same evening when the President of the Student Council, Joe Cerrito, crowned Colleen Haggerty, representing the National Honor Society, Homecoming Queen of 1970.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This year's Hendricken Chapter of the NHS expanded its range of services greatly. Under the capable leadership of Bro. Lawrence Lussier, moderator, and the officers, the organization once again initiated its highly successful tutoring program for interested students. A new feature of this program was the offering of additional, complementary material to those interested in seeking such supplements to their regular classroom work, in the fields of Science, Mathematics, History, and Foreign Language. In addition, the NHS sponsored a mixer on December 5th, featuring the sounds of "Boulderdash", invited special guest speakers to lecture, co-ordinated all communications with alumni, and offered a well-developed program of excellent feature-length films to all students.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

In showing leadership at all times with service to others, the 1970-71 Lettermen's Club generated a spirit which vibrated throughout the entire school. Starting with the football season the club, under the guidance of Bro. Raymond Kemmerer, assisted in controlling crowds and keeping the general area always in its best condition. The assistance of the club was also appreciated at Pep Rallies and at the Hawks' home basketball games. Generally, the club strived to serve others and make this year a prosperous one. The club did this well and also sponsored a Mixer and Club Dance as their top social events.

STAGE CREW

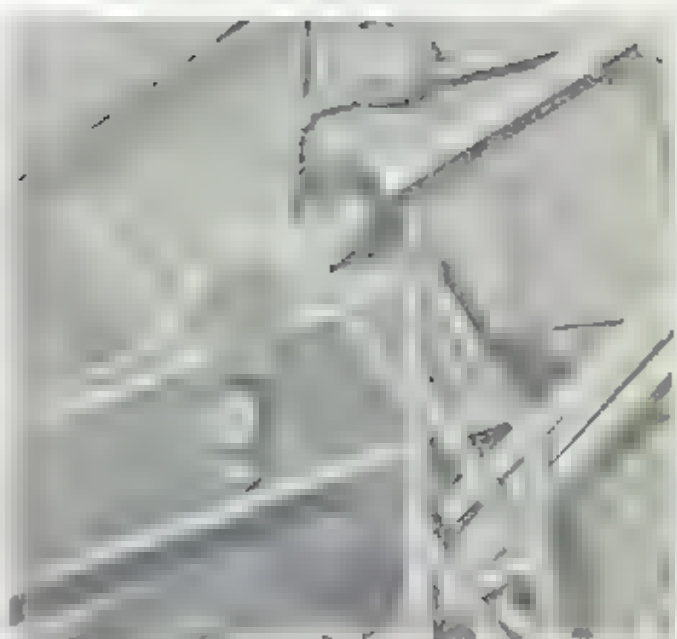

Working many long hours behind the scenes, the stage crew served as an essential part to the success of every production. Combining the technological knowledge of the moderator, Bro. Raymond Kemmerer, C.S.C. and the artistic talent of Mr. Larry Gries, the crew strove to create professionalism in their work. This year the crew worked diligently to model atmospheres for events such as mixers, Homecoming, Christmas Concert, and most importantly "My Fair Lady".

INNER CITY

A person taking a walk some afternoon past the three story homes and aging tenements of South Providence would catch glimpses of many people of various nationalities. The poverty that characterizes this section of the city, however, is intensified among the people living in the Roger Williams Housing Projects, a stifling world of drab tenements and glass littered pavement known as the "Inner City".

A few concerned people, however, have regularly come to the projects. Bro. John Gleason, C.S.C., Moderator, Rick Fenton, Dave and Steve Pinault, Mike Lynch, Jack Dugan, and Mike Carley. These few persons developed a feeling of closeness in their working together. In learning to help families, children, each other, the Inner City people felt love—something patient enough to listen to an old woman's troubles, something understanding enough to help a lonely child, or something persevering enough to help Father Sheltin lick the stamps for a thousand envelopes. Together, these students acted with a spirit that made easy efforts of the Thanksgiving Food Drive—hinting that the people of the Inner City were not the only people to benefit.

MITRE

Under the experienced direction of moderator, Mr. Larry F. Gries and editor-in-chief, Robert Maccarone, the 1971 yearbook staff sought to add a new dimension of excellence to this year's MITRE. By increasing the MITRE'S size to 160 pages, it was able to introduce a new Music section and increase coverage of Sports and Activities. As a diversion from its regular structure student council and class officers were photographer in different locations with various backgrounds, all unified by the theme of transportation. This is only one of the techniques employed within the 1971 MITRE. Photography techniques were also stressed.

In its first year of competition, the six-man Hendricken Ski Team demonstrated an unexpected amount of skill on the slopes. Captained by senior Jeff Rochette, they never finished less than second place in any of their local meets at Yawgoog Valley. In the three state meets, they place eleventh, fourth, and third.

Representing the team in the state meets were seniors, Dave Poirier, Peter Conn, Glen Petit and sophomore Dave O'Connell. Because of the consistently fine performances of these four members, Hendricken was selected to represent Yawgoog in the final competition for the team championships at Pine Top.

ELECTRONICS

This year, a new club was added to Hendricken's list of extracurricular activities. With Mr. Christopher Brown as moderator, the newly-formed Electronics Club was able to install a complete station. Throughout the year, the group held several exhibits during which they contacted numerous states and foreign countries. Members also worked diligently installing a United Press International Teletype.

MATH TEAM

The Math Team has shown that it has the desire and capability to improve upon last year's fifth place standing in the state. Three experienced members from last year's team hope to return the Hendricken team to the state finals in the Spring. Spearheaded by team leader Rick Pelosi '71, who accompanied by Frank Reynolds '71 and Paul McKenney '72, this year's squad has a solid base. In addition, George Hill, an exceptional Junior mathematician and Steve Pinault, a promising Sophomore round out the squad. Mick Ryan '72 serves as the alternate and has proven himself to be a strong competitor for the team.

HENDRICKEN-PROUT BASKETBALL

The second annual Prout Hendricken Basketball Game, refereed by Brian Ray and Steve McGinness, drew quite a crowd to the Hendricken gym in November. Enthusiasm heightened on opposing sides of the court with the appearance of the "Prout Pep Band" and the boisterous group of Hawk basketball fans armed with megaphones. One striking peculiarity of the B H team was that each player was required to wear gloves.

With the final minutes nearing, the Hawks fell into a slump. With less than a minute remaining and his team down by eight points, Coach Harry Bailey sent in his reserves, all ten of them. What ensued was a wild melee as the Doves retaliated by clearing their bench also. Much to the dismay of the homecourt fans, the final buzzer sounded, signalling the first defeat for the Hawks in the annual event.

SENIOR-ALUMNI DANCE

Winter's first blizzard set the scene for this year's traditional Senior-Alumni Dance. The warm atmosphere, generated by the candle-lit Windjammer Lounge, attracted over 200 couples. While snow fell heavily outside, faculty members, alumni, and the host class of '71 enjoyed a relaxing evening renewing their old acquaintances.

A light dinner was served as the inspiring sound of "Granite" provided an entertaining background. All too quickly, the hours had passed, and this memorable evening came to a close.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Guided by the motto "Results not excuses" the Music Department worked diligently practicing, rehearsing, and performing in various aspects of music. Led by the seniors, and especially the four officers, the band was successful not only in its performances, but also in providing the student body with music which it could appreciate and benefit from.

With daily practice stressing the finer points of musicianship, the concert season was as rewarding as the marching season. Christmas concerts in West Warwick and at Hendricken were greatly appreciated by the people in attendance, and the spring concert which is scheduled for June, also promises to be successful.

Halftime Show

The Marching Band, which was present at all half time shows since 1967, continued to excel on the field and parade route. Precision marching and dancing, which accompanied fine renditions of popular music highlighted weekly halftime performances.

In addition to appearing in numerous small parades, the band marched in the Columbus Day Parade where it was unanimously chosen to continue as the "best marching band" in the state. The band was subsequently invited to march in the St. Patrick's Day parade in New York City and the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washinton, D.C.

CAMELOT

The music departments of Prout and Hendricken High Schools went back to the time of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table to perform on the Prout stage Lerner and Loewe's musical drama "Camelot"

"Camelot" is the realization of the dreams of a king, who governed by his own idealism, tries to serve his subjects rather than to be served by them. To do this he forms a new order of chivalry with the motto "Might for Right" only to have it destroyed by the love affair between his queen and his best friend. Although "Camelot" no longer exists, Arthur hopes that all it stood for will live on in the minds of all men

Three months of practice on the part of some two hundred and twenty-five students from both schools, including the actors, dancers, the pit orchestra and the stage crew, with Bro. John Neidl, C.S.C. as director-choreographer culminated in a presentation enthusiastically received in three sell-out performances.

Among those who worked especially hard were Sr. Patricia Barnatt, C.P., assisted by Bro. Robert Nebus, C.S.C. (costume design), Bro. Raymond Kemmerer, C.S.C. (stage crew) and Mr. Larry Gries (stage design).

Outstanding in their performances were Robert Cook (King Arthur), George Brennan (Mordred), Francis Dempsey (Lancelot) and Mary Naddy (Guinevere) who understudied for Mary Ann Cumiskey, who was ill for the duration.

Among the remaining players were Kevin Fielding (King Pellinore), William McKenney (Merlin), Mary Farr (Morgan Le Fey), James Ahearn (Tom of Warwick) and Neil Cumiskey, Dave Monti, David Talbot, and Paul McKenney as the four Knights of the court.

In addition to the outstanding leads, supporting roles were the catalysts to a truly cooperative effort—perhaps the dream of Arthur.

WINTER CONCERT

The night of December twenty second whipped cold snow and wind against every traveler, and for many, subdued the joyousness of the season. Yet, such weather only heightened the feeling of Christmas for the six hundred people who came to participate in the "Sounds of Christmas".

Under the direction of Bro. John Neidl, C S C, the Hendricken Concert Band and Miss Strels joined with the Prout Dance Team and Glee Club to present a musical interpretation of the spirit of Christmas. Bro. Raymond Kemmerer and the stage crew, in addition to Mr. Larry Gries who was responsible for stage design and art work, produced an atmosphere that blended with the performances.

The program deliberately sought to capture a wide range of musical interpretation, interpretations that captured the feelings of people in lands and situations different from our own. Thus, in addition to familiar works such as "Sleigh Ride", "Winter Wonderland", and "White Christmas", the students also performed "Greensleeves", "Go Tell It on the Mountain", "Night Wind" a musical reflection of the hope and despair characterizing Appalachia, and the traditional "All Through the Night" (during which time a multi media effect was achieved by projecting a series of slides of hopeful, poverty-stricken people on the wall. The series was concluded when a slide depicting a painting of a Renaissance angel interpreted the necessity of faith. The concert participants were sure of their success when the audience responded to their invitation to wish each other "PEACE".

FOOTBALL

 Mathieu (captain)

After years of Class A competition, the 1970 Hawk Football team returned to Class B and tore the league apart. Under the direction of head coach Bob Griffin and his assistants Bill Lepre, Pat Raggio and Jim Engott, the Hawks proved that they ranked with the finest teams in the state

After beginning the season with two non-league victories over Pilgrim and Warwick (Round Robin), the team suffered an initial league setback to Coventry, which proved to be their only loss. Then, against last year's Class B Champions, West Warwick, the Hawks won a narrow 23-22 victory.

The gridsters next ran past Westerly, East Greenwich, South Kingston, North Kingston, Central, and Johnston, with credit due to the strong offensive and defensive units. The season's finale saw the Hawks hand Cranston West their first loss of the season in a 20-0 shutout and tie for the league championship.

The success of the team was due primarily to a unified effort led by co-captains Brian Cradden and Dan Whitaker, both of whom were named to the All State Team. In addition, Mark Scanlon, Dave D'Ovidio, Paul Rettenmyer and Don Braen were named to the All Class B Team. Rounding out a senior dominated team were quarterback Bob Mathieu, Bill Charland, Jim Louth, Rick DiSano, Dave Catanzaro, Doug Stone, Jim Jones, Pete Conn, Bill Hanson, and Harry Bailey.

Determination and perseverance marked the efforts of Hendricken's 1970 cross-country team throughout its season. Guided by third year coach Ray Dwyer, the runners created the finest record ever established by a Hendricken team.

Co-captains Jim Gallagher and Augie Zabbo were inspiring leaders as each constantly put forth tremendous effort at every meet. INDOOR TRACK

Dominated by veteran performers the Indoor Track Team completed its most successful season ever in 1971. Losing in dual meets only to LaSalle, the Hawk trackmen placed second in the Metropolitan Division. This was a senior team where the seniors dominated all but two events. Junior Bill Johnston along with Sophomores Paul Brodeur and Joe Venditto handled the 25 lb. weight, while Junior Mick Ryan controlled the mile. The other events went to seniors; Jim Gallagher in the 2 mile, Augie Zabbo in the 1000 yd. run, Jim Jones and Gary Alexander in the hurdles, John Mattis, Bill Charland, Dan Whitaker and Jim Jones in the 50 yd. dash, Alexander in the 600, Charland in the 300, and Steve Cote in the shot-put, and Alexander in the high jump.

Big wins for the Hawks came in victories against intra-city rivals Warwick and Pilgrim and also against Rogers and Mount Pleasant. Coaches Ed Fracassa and Al Campbell coached their team to break school records in nine of ten events. Only the mile record, set a year ago by Augie Zabbo, was not removed.

The key to the success of the team was the determination, dedication and spirit exhibited by each member of the team in practice and in the meets. Credible performances were turned in by several sophomores and juniors in the distance races which will be the basis of future teams along with the weight throwers.

BASKETBALL

The 1970-71 basketball season saw the team suffer many adversities. However, led by Coach Ray Pepin, the team worked hard and finished the season in third place among the teams in the tough Class A West Division.

The Hawks were flying high at the beginning of the season as they won their first five games. Led by Steve McGuinness with 27 points and Sophomore sensation Fred Rush, the Hawks beat Hope 90-88 in double overtime. Controlling the tempo in the next two games the Hawks easily defeated Johnston and Bristol with John Jackson, the Hawks' Captain and high scorer, big man in both games.

The annual Hendricken Christmas Tourney brought in some of the finest teams around. Hendricken swept by Cumberland and Mt. St. Charles in the first two rounds moved into the finals. Jackson, Bradley and Ray were the big men in these two games. In the finals, the Hawks encountered a tough St. Patrick's team and suffered their first loss of the year.

The last preseason game was against Warren where the Hawks again showed superiority with Jackson, McGuinness and Ray the high scorers.

The Hawks started their league competition the same as preseason—winning their first five games. Against Mt. Pleasant Rush and Powers were high scorers with 22 and 18 points respectively.

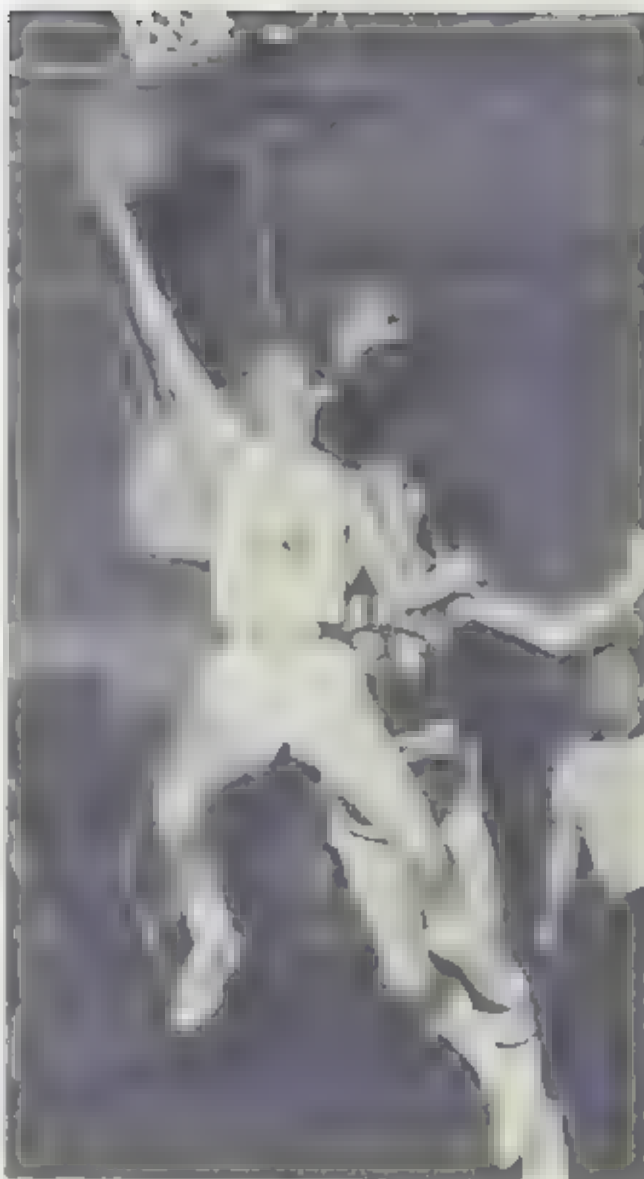

Manager John Liston and Trainer Paul Fitzgibbons

Next game saw the Hawks sweep by Pilgrim. Two more wins against Warwick and Cranston East lifted the Hawks' record to 5-0. The Cranston game was all Jackson as the big man came through with a record-breaking performance of 40 points.

The big game came against Central. Both 5-0, this was the game of the year. After a close first half, the Black Knights pulled away and finished with an 88-69 victory. Jackson led the Hawks with 26 points.

The Hawks bounced right back though and won their next three. The Hawks defeated Coventry with Steve McGuinness scoring 33 points. This was the first time the Hawks ever scored over 100 pts. in a game. The Hawks defeated Mt. Pleasant and Pilgrim next. The Pilgrim game proved to be the Hawks' best team effort of the year as all five starters hit double figures. Dave Clark turned in a fine game for the Hawks.

Adversities hit the Hawks as Wayne Powers was sidelined with a broken leg. Against LaSalle the Hawks lost 64-61 but made a valiant comeback in the last few minutes. The next game saw a tired up Warwick team upset the Hawks 71-62 that pushed the Hawks into third place.

Bouncing back the Hawks took Cranston East and Coventry, but lost again to Central. Against East, Steve McGuinness and John Jackson were high scorers with 23 and 20 pts. respectively. Against Coventry, Fred Rush was high man with 20. McGuinness, Jackson and Ray also were in double figures.

The Hawks moved on to the playoffs against a much improved Mt. St. Charles team. It just wasn't the Hawks' night as they were defeated by the Mounties.

The top Hawk performer was John Jackson as he averaged 22 pts. per game and reached over 1000 career points. Although losing eight seniors the outlook for the upcoming year is bright, with Fred Rush, Frank Bradley, Tom DeGraide and John McGrath ready to fill these vacated spots.

J.V. BASKETBALL

The development of basketball talent, talent that will provide Hendricken with future success in basketball, was the major accomplishment of this year's J.V. Team. Hard work in both practices and games resulted in a winning season for the J.V. Under Coach Don Hickey, the squad had a 9-8 overall record; four of the eight losses by three points or less. Juniors John McGrath, Dan McCall and Ed Pendergast led the team with able assistance from Sophomores Charlie Conway, Art Malvey, Paul Quinn and Steve Locke. Coach Pepin is counting on these and the other J.V. players to adjust quickly when they take their places on next year's varsity team.

FRESHMEN BASKETBALL

With practice dating back to middle October, the Freshmen Basketball Team developed into a championship squad winning the Central Division Title. The division included teams such as Coventry, Bain, Johnston, Park View, and Western Hills.

Led by captain Roger Curran the team won eight of its ten games. By defeating Western Hills in the play-off 42-30, it claimed the Central Division Title.

Coach Bro. Raymond Powers, along with the varsity coaches, were pleased to see the progression and spirit of the Freshmen player and count on these players to soon take their place on the varsity squad.

Competing with one of the smallest squads ever seen at Hendricken, the wrestling team accomplished one of its best records in recent years. Placing sixth in the state meet and tying for third in the New England Championship behind the fine performances of state champions Brian Crudden and Dave D'Ovidio, the team showed outstanding spirit in practice as well as meets. First year Coach Matt McEntee developed talented newcomers as well as veteran wrestlers into noteworthy performers.

Throughout the season several commendable efforts were exhibited in each meet. Along with Crudden and D'Ovidio, Rick Pelosi was chosen by the Metropolitan Division Coaches to compete in the All-Star Matches

Unfortunately for Rick and the team, Pelosi suffered a leg injury that sidelined him for the second half of the season. Captain Al Joyal and junior Paul Benoit also had outstanding seasonal records. The biggest win for the team was an upset victory over Cranston East (25-23) which took a great team effort.

BASEBALL '70

A spirit of optimism and confidence preceded the 1970 Hawk baseball season. With the return of seven players from the 1969 starting line up, a division title seemed well within reach. The injuries suffered by Jim Cotter and Lenny Jones, however, impaired the Hawks' attack from the outset. Fortunately, the fine pitching of Denny Hayden (4-1) and the consistent hitting of John Jackson (30h) kept the Hawks in contention. The return of Jim Cotter contributed the offensive punch which led the Hawks to several impressive victories late in the season. Obviously, only the injuries incurred at the beginning of the 1970 season thwarted the team's attempt to secure the division title. The 1971 Hawk baseball team under head coach Mr. Ed Wnuk will, hopefully, have better luck than the 1970 squad when it attempts to attain the championship.

SPRING TRACK '70

The 1970 spring track season was one marked with exceptional individual efforts and an overall team performance that could only spell out victory for the Hawks in '71.

Coached by Ed Fracassa and Al Campbell and led by captains Bill Deegan, Kevin Hennessey, and Ed Elinwood, the team finished high in each competition as each member devoted himself to excellence in his particular event. Especially contributing to the team effort were sprinters Mark VanReeth and John Mattis, along with distance runners Jim Gallagher, Mick Ryan, and Augie Zabbo. Pole vaulter Dan Whitaker and long jumper Jim Jones, together with Bill Deegan, shot and Steve Cote, discus, gave much-needed field event support.

Although major titles eluded the team, the Hawks did succeed in scoring several dual meet victories. Especially prized was the winning of the state Relay Carnival title, a third place finish in the state meet, the breaking of four state records, and the distinction of being the only school to take medals in all running events.

METRONOMES

This year, the Prout "Metronomes" marched with consistant precision to the resounding music of the Bishop Hendricken Band attaining a high level of per fection in their performances. Largely due to the firm guidance and direction of Bro. John Neidl, C.S.C., and and the competent assistance of President Sharon Greene and Vice-President Carol Porter, the "Metro nomes" continued to display their fine ability to per form as a drill team. Moreover, the "Metronomes" provided the feminine touch, obviously a factor which contributed significantly to the success of the Hendricken "Men of Music" in state competition.

CHEERLEADERS

Present at all athletic events was a group of fourteen girls from St. Mary's Academy known as the "Hawk Cheerleaders." Captained by Gina Macdonald and Diane Johnson, the girls created spirit to supplement the Hawks' many victories in various sports this year. The cheerleaders have come to be accepted as an integral part of Hendricken athletics.

SENIORS

SENIORS

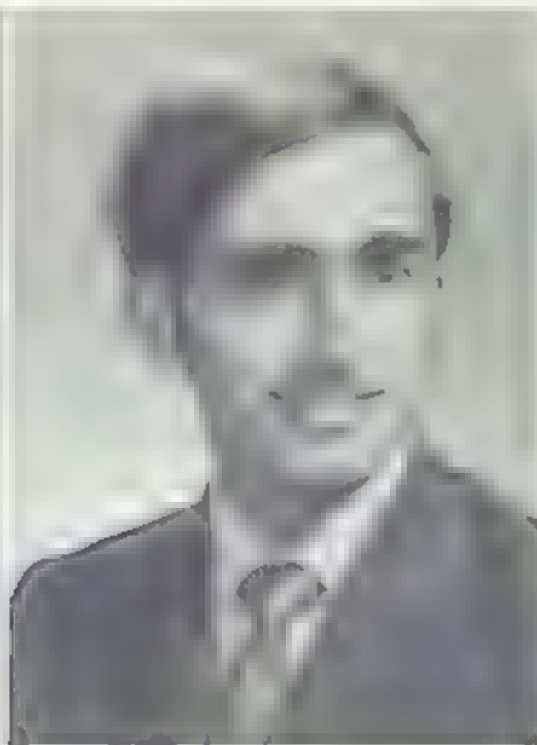

The activities of the class of 1971 in their final year of high school proved there is more to Hendricken than just classes. The seniors led the school throughout the year in academics and athletics. With three National Merit Semi-finalists and no less than seven All-State commendations, this class proved themselves to be outstanding.

Under the moderation of Bro. Lawrence Backus, C.S.C., the seniors sponsored the school's first and most successful mixer of the year, a basketball game-mixer with the seniors of Prout and the traditional Senior Alumni Dance. For the first time, the annual event was held away from school and a capacity crowd danced to the sounds of the "Granite".

Among the other activities undertaken by the seniors were the running of the concession stand, a senior day and the prom at the conclusion of a memorable year

UNDERCLASSMEN

Having completed their third year of enrollment, juniors might be inclined to reflect upon many of their accomplishments of the past. This tendency is understandable upon reviewing their outstanding schedule of activity.

The juniors are completing the year with a number of achievements accredited to their record. The most notable is that they were the first Junior class to plan and carry out a school sanctioned post prom. On April 23, the class of '72 held the traditional prom at the Alpine Country Club, which proved to be a complete success. Following the dinner and dancing, a rock group quickened the pace of the post prom.

The student-faculty basketball game and mixer was co-sponsored with the Senior Class as a break in the tedium of classwork in the early Spring. Along with this mixer, the class sponsored several others on its own.

The retreats, which were spaced out during the weekends of February and March also proved beneficial.

Paul McKenney and Steve Day

Although the class of '72 has good cause to reminisce, the potential of their abilities lies in the future. With three years of experience behind them, their final year can only benefit from their spirit and willingness to support their class.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomores made their presence known in every area of activity at Hendricken. Athletics, activities and academics each had their share of noteworthy Sophomore contributors.

The academic endeavors of the class of 1973 are well-known through the honors granted to the many Sophomore students.

Also, the class has proven itself through the sports program at Hendricken. The Sophomore class was ably represented on every varsity squad, many gaining a birth on the first team lineups.

Socially, the Sophomores excelled as well. Together with the Freshmen Class, they sponsored three very successful mixers during the course of the year. The two classes jointly planned a movie trip. The climax of the class of '73's year was the semi-formal dance held in March.

FRESHMEN

The Class of '74 made up for its small size by its enthusiasm and class pride. The ambitious freshmen set their goals high and proved to be successful academically and athletically.

The Freshman Class, moderated by Bro. John Gleason, C.S.C., teamed up with the sophomores to sponsor three mixers. Unlike past first-year students at Hendricken, the Class of '74 was able to capitalize upon the benefits of a combined effort with the sophomores.

It is nearly impossible for anyone to capture all the aspects of life that existed here at Hendricken this year. But, if we have brought to light only a part of that spirit, we have succeeded.

The Staff of the 1971 MITRE wishes to express their appreciation to those who have helped in the compiling of this yearbook:

Mr. John Levis, representative for the Taylor Publishing Company, Loring Studios of Providence for photography, Especially, Mr. Larry F. Gnes, Advisor Moderator. And to the Administration, Faculty, and Students of Bishop Hendricken High School for their cooperation.
